

Whipps Cross Voices

GREETINGS

*Whipps Cross Hospital,
Leytonstone,
London, E.11.*

Barts Health NHS Trust Archives

Open to all by appointment

Search our public catalogue online - listings for nearly 70,000 records and objects, and regular updates of new catalogue information

We look after records and objects extending to around 2km of shelving, dating from 1137-today

Based at the St Bartholomew's Hospital site in West Smithfield

Our Whipps Cross collections

Why are we doing this project (now)?

To celebrate the history of the hospital as the redevelopment project moves forward

To build on the work of previous local and community history projects

To highlight and find out more about key themes in the hospital's history

To share and build skills and knowledge with the local community and project participants

What will the project involve?

A range of opportunities to get involved depending on your interest and availability

Oral history interviews and recordings

Improved access to existing collections through cataloguing and digitisation

Online and onsite activities to share and interpret material from the archives and stories of the hospital

Could you be one of our Whipps Cross Voices?

Share your memories

- Oral history recording
- Short vox-pop recording
- Written memories
- Documents to share
(for example, photos, leaflets)

Improve what we already know

- Add your knowledge
to our catalogue
- Scan existing archive items

Tell other people

- Spread the word
- Share what we know in displays and a walking trail
